The Best Selling Game of last year

"Ars Academica" of Oxygen Not Included was a game that caught the attention of the general populous worldwide.

The game is available on the Google Play Store and steam. Through the Steam Catalogue, Ars Academica managed to outsell the best selling game of all time, Minecraft. Unreal Tournament is the number 3, but these are all just minor details compared to the game's overwhelming success.

Oxygen Not Included is a new fantasy game where you control the crew of an old rusty spaceship.

Featuring a beautiful 2.5D engine and a beautiful depiction of an old space ship, Oxygen Not Included is an absolute joy to see and play.

Around 80.000 copies of the game have been sold. A pretty impressive number considering that the game is released in a highly competitive area with many other games competing for the market.
