software.Q: Javascript: string.replace HTML Character I have a Javascript string with the HTML character, — which I need to replace to -, so I can have valid code. I've tried a lot of solutions, but none of them worked. If anyone can help me with this, I'll appreciate that. :) A: This is not an HTML issue, but a character encoding issue. - is not the same as —. One of the easiest ways to handle this would be to run the encoding over the string. Example: // Initialize a data buffer in utf-8 var str = "D0D0D0 — D0D0D0 - D0D0D0"; var str_len = str.length; var str_utf8 = str.replace(/&/, ""); // Remove "&" var str_encoded = str_utf8.replace(/&#x/g, ""); // Remove "&#" var str_decoded = str_encoded.replace(/ /g, "-"); console.log(str_decoded); console.log(str_decoded); Output: D0D0D0 - D0D0D0 - D0D0D0 D0D0D0 - D0D0D0 alpineosg==2.0 redis==3.3.8 django-cacher==0.35 django-cache-redis==1.9 django-cache-utils==0.7 redis==2.10.7 Install a Python Package and Modify Code from Source If your third-party library does not have an installable binary for Python 3, you might want to try installing the library from source.
